

Global Risk Experts

A Resilient Business is our Common Goal

Introducing an independent risk management partner helping companies protect their balance sheets and reputations via a comprehensive suite of risk management services and tools to enhance the identification, understanding and management of risk.

Global Risk Experts is a Swiss-based risk management consultancy formed by a group of highly experienced professionals to provide independent, unbiased risk management services.

Our objective is to help companies identify the various risks they face, assess their interdependencies across the organization and provide practical, cost-effective solutions for minimizing / mitigating those risks.

Global

Global Risk Experts is committed to meeting the needs of its customers wherever they do business, and enabling them to capitalize on our deep expertise in all regions. In fact, our founding members have significant experience implementing professional risk management practices in mature and emerging markets.

Risk

We have spent our careers helping commercial enterprises identify and manage risk. Our understanding of the risk landscape and global business environment is both broad and deep - we have vast knowledge of all components of a comprehensive risk management solution aimed at reducing the total cost of risk. As a result, Global Risk Experts' suite of services and tools can be tailored to address global, enterprise-wide risks as well as risks specific to particular operating environments / locations - all with an appreciation of regional / cultural differences.

Experts

Our founders have each held senior executive positions with major insurers and industrial companies, and collectively have more than 200 years experience identifying, managing and mitigating risk. Chances are that at least one of our founders has specific prior experience with your company or industry segment. This means we can quickly and effectively focus on the key challenges, and avoid spending valuable time getting "up-to-speed".

Ensuring Business Success

At Global Risk Experts, we understand that optimizing risk involves a complex process considering severity and probability of numerous exposures across the risk landscape, and in the context of the specific business situation - including the global supply chain.

We have extensive know-how of numerous industry sectors and specific on-the-ground experience with major international companies.

This means Global Risk Experts provides practical, cost-effective solutions to reduce operational vulnerabilities and to prevent or minimize "surprises".

Global Risk Experts is committed to providing independent, unbiased risk management and engineering services with the broadest reach available in terms of industry experience, lines-of-business and geographic coverage. We aim to bring our customers “the right person, at the right time, in the right place”.
